Barber of Seville' Opens Tonight

Haag, Dahlstrom Head Cast Of All-School Comic Opera; Musical to Be in English

BY JEWEL BECK

Comic opera makes its debut on the Student Union stage tonight. In a romantic setting of old Italy, "The Barber of Seville" will be sung in English by an all-school cast which is presented the first time ever undertaken by a Montana university group.

Tickets for "The Barber" will be on sale today and tomorrow from 9 a.m. until curtain time at 5 p.m. in the Student Union ticket office.

"Good seats are still available," reported Gene Kallgren, Butte, business manager, "for either the Tuesday or Wednesday performance."

Backstage Broadcast

A special on-the-spot broadcast from backstage of the Student Union theater will be aired over KVO Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 8:00, just before the show opens at 8:15 p.m.

This opera, which is the result of the combined efforts of the music and drama departments, is one of a series of musicals now presented at MSU every two years. Other shows which have been presented, all operettas, are "The Sert Song," "The Firefly," "New Moon," "The Vagabond King," and "The Student Prince."

Haag and Dahlstrom

Singing the lead roles of the show are Colleen Haag, who is cast as Rosina, as soprano; Neil Dahlstrom, a baritone, who sings the part of the town barber, Figaro; George Lewis, tenor, as the amorous Count Almaviva; and Jim Callahan, basso buffo, as the gruff guardian of Rosina. All four are from Missoula.

Lane Justus, Bozeman, a baritone, will sing the role of Fiorello, servant of Count Almaviva; Gene Schuchla, Libby, basso, will be cast as Basilio, the music-master of the village; Alice Byers, Missoula, soprano, as Bertha, housemaid of Dr. Bartolo; and Vern Johnson, Hilger, as Captain of the Guard.

Beautiful Rosina

The plot of the story centers around the charms of the beautiful heroine, Rosina. Dr. Bartolo, a physician, at whose home Rosina lives, wishes to make her his bride, but is outwitted by the lovelorn Count Almaviva, who has enlisted the aid of Figaro, the barber.

John Lester of the music school and LeRoy W. Hinze of the drama department are directing the show. Eugene Andrie will be orchestral director; Norman Gulbrandsen, choral director; and Abe Wollock, technical director.

Student assistant director is Jesper Jensen, Copenhagen, Denmark. Charles Schmitt, Chicago, is production manager.

Production Crew

Dozens of students have been working for weeks on the production and business ends of the show. Those in charge of scenery construction have been Virginia Bulen, Missoula; Charles Cromwell, Coeur d'Alene, Ida.; Frank Fitzgerald, Yakima, Wash.; Nancy Hays, Missoula; Bill Hepler, Scottsdale, Pa.; Jespen Jensen, Copenhagen, Denmark; Audrey Linseheid, Vida; and Jack Shapira, New York City.

Larry Kadlec, Missoula, heads the committee for stage property (please see page four)

MSU Alumni Nominate Officers

John C. Hauck, '34, of Butte and Claget T. (Tad) Sanders, '35, of Sidney were nominated for the presidency of the university alumni association at the annual spring meeting of the association's executive council held last week end in Sidney, Andy Cogswell, alumni secretary, announced yesterday.

Nominated for vice president were Mrs. Ernest R. Anderson, '28, of Bozeman and Robert W. Harper, '26, of Helena. The contest for delegates-at-large for a three year term will be between Harold Hanson, '40, of Missoula, and Curtis Lees, '29, of Billings.

Nov. 4 has been set as Homecoming date for 1950. The Grizzlies meet the College of Puget Sound in Missoula on that date.

The council proposed to work out immediately the framework of an alumni fund, proceeds of which will be used in the various areas of university development, Cogswell said.

Figaro, Figaro, Figaro

Eight Committees Ask for Workers

Jobs on eight committees are open for students who are interested in their MSU government and are willing to work, Bob Anderson, ASMSU president, said recently.

Anderson added that any acceptances of committee work positions for the 1950-51 school year should be turned in to the ASMSU office across from the business office in the Student Union building.

The following is a list of the committees and the duties connected with each of them.

The convocations committee selects and arranges each ASMSU convocation.

All official social functions are supervised by the social committee.

The publications board handles the business and reviews the policies of ASMSU publications. Another duty of this organization is to recommend the budgets of these publications to Central board.

Preparing and reviewing the ASMSU budget and passing on all financial transactions is the job of the budget and finance committee.

The Student Union executive board constructs the policies for the Student Union.

All rules and policies governing intramural sports are determined by the intramural sports board.

The "M" book committee has general supervision over the annual publication.

Athletic supplies, grounds, schedules, and budgets are controlled by the athletic board.

APPLICATIONS DUE TODAY

Bear Paw applications must be turned in today, warns Bryce Breitenstein, Plains, chief Grizzly.

Central Board Considers Ceiling Responsibility On Athletic Finances

BY GEORGE REMINGTON

Central board, in a joint meeting with Athletic board this afternoon, will consider "putting a ceiling on responsibility" students must assume in the financing of the MSU athletic program.

If passed, the Athletic board recommendation would have the athletic program underwritten by students only to $10,750, an amount which would cover 50 grants-in-aid (tuitions) and 10 "essential" athletic department jobs. The athletics department would be responsible for financing the program beyond this amount.

Questions Before Central Board
The question was brought before Central board Thursday at a busy special session in which the board:

1. Compromised the controversial debate and oratory appropriation at 2.4 per cent of student fees.

2. Maintained Kaimin salaries at their present level.

3. Temporarily kept Sentinel salaries at their present amounts, but asked Budget and Finance committee to consider salary changes recommended by Sentinel Co-editor Bob O'Neil.

4. Authorized selling reserved seats to students for the annual Grizzly-Bobcat football game in Butte for $1.

5. Decided to swear in new members at today's meeting.

With the settling of the squabbles over the debate and oratory appropriation and the Kaimin and Sentinel salaries, Central board finally accepted the 1950-51 ASMSU budget. The Athletic board recommendation did not have to be decided before the budget could be approved. The $10,750 limitation would be concerned only with outside donations to the Athletic department.

ASMSU Business Manager Dave Freeman said there is little danger that the students will take a loss on (please see page two)

Scholarship To Honor Fire Victim

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Thompson, Charlotte, N. C., have established a $5,000 scholarship at the University in honor of their son, Silas R. Thompson, Jr., one of the six university students who lost their lives in the disastrous Mann Gulch forest fire last August near Helena, Dean Ross Williams of the forestry school announced yesterday.

Thompson, 21, was a junior forestry student and an army veteran. He and four of the MSU students who died were smoke jumpers who had parachuted on the big fire. The other student was a fire guard who had joined them during the emergency. They and seven other fire fighters were trapped on a steep mountainside in the Gates-of-the-Mountains region when the area around them burst into flames.

Thompson's parents established a scholarship as a memorial to their son, leaving administration of the fund to university officials, who plan a permanent scholarship in Thompson's name to aid future forestry students.

Pres. James A. McCain said in a letter to Thompson's parents, "Your scholarship will be a permanent memorial to the selflessness and courage which were manifested in the tragic incident which cost Raymond's life. Further, it will hold up to future generations of Montana State University forestry students the high standards of scholarship, fellowship, and professional spirit which he exemplified."

RMIPA Post Goes To Kaimin Editor

The Rocky Mountain Intercollegiate Press association, meeting for the first time on the Montana campus, wound up its 1950 convention Saturday by naming association officers for the coming year. Kaimin Editor Don Graff, Laurel, was elected director of the technical quarterly.

Other new members are Lorry Rytting, Brigham Young, president; Don Thompson, University of Wyoming, news service director; and Bill Harwood, Idaho State college, vice-president.

Graff is charged with publishing a mimeographed booklet on college publication problems three times during the next school year. After that, the magazine moves to another school in the association. Articles will be submitted by association members.

The convention ended Saturday with a banquet at the Montmartre. Dean James L. C. Ford of the journalism school, Prof. John Moore of the English department, and Kaimin and Sentinel staff members were special guests.

The journalism honoraries for men and women—Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi—were convention hosts. They entertained at a mixer for the delegates on Thursday, and led a tour of the Daily Missoulian and KGVO Friday evening.

The convention was managed by Bill Smurr, Sacramento, Calif. Joan Smith, Kalispell, was convention secretary-treasurer. Colorado A. and M. was selected as host school next year.

Maybe the Twain Will Meet

Evidently a new generation of student expatriates is in the painful process of birth. That is our considered opinion after viewing the voluminous correspondence on gay youth tours, fascinating summer courses at exotic foreign universities, and other alluring calls to gypsy life that daily mounts higher on our desk.

In the past weeks we have been invited to go barefoot in Mexico and produce adobe bricks; zip through various parts of Europe, Africa, South America, and the Orient on student tours; and spend a Nordic summer studying at the University of Oslo. Among the later arrivals is a brochure extolling the thrills of a 26-day cruise ("Adventure," they say in bold caps) to Japan at the bargain price of $971—that is, if you want an enclosed room on shipboard.

Attractive features of this little odyssey include the promise of tourist-third-class accommodations and a "super" swimming pool on shipboard. Dandy, and for only $971—with enclosed room.

This student exodus has progressed to the point where a publication, the "Student Traveler," is devoted to information on cooperative tours and summer courses at European universities. The "Traveler" is published by Student Travel Service, Ltd., an organization that calls its 1950 program "Operation Friendship."

The magazine is full to the margins with intriguing information on flights in chartered planes and study tours (University of Frimbourg, July 17-August 19, $675, lectures in English) and is very interesting. However, it is rather amazing that this yen for distant places has grown so strong that it calls for a specialized magazine. We hadn't realized that the American collegian was so smitten with the wanderlust.

In case the itchy foot has already engulfed Montana State University, The Kaimin will be most happy to aid those desiring a change. We have a great deal of information on the various tours and would be delighted to share same with interested students. Drop around sometime and see our travel bureau.—D.G.

Athletic Funds Troublesome

the $10,750 ceiling since the Athletic department "has always raised more than that amount." He said the 10 Athletic board jobs provided for in the figure were those which are "absolutely necessary" such as laundry and equipment-room jobs.

University Auditor E. Kirk Badgley said there is little chance of less than $10,750 being raised, but said a loss could still come about if that much were raised. He explained that the Athletic department conceivably could raise $15,000 but make grant-in-aid and job promises to $30,000.

Asked who would assume such a loss if one did occur despite the $10,750 limitation, Badgley said the "only resources" are student reserves. He explained, however, that the loss most likely would be made up out of the Athletic budget for the following year.

Badgley and Freeman both explained that the athletic program cannot be run on the $10,750 plus the 48.5 per cent student fee appropriation, but explained that under the proposal students would not be held responsible for any more than that.

Debate Appropriation

Thursday's well handled discussion of the debate and oratory appropriation was a pleasing contrast from the heated tussle the previous Tuesday. Freeman presented six possible plans for altering the original budget and said Budget and Finance committee agreed unanimously on the plan known as "Budget A." This plan, the one which Central board accepted, would raise debate from its 2.1 per cent on the original budget to 2.4 per cent. The .3 per cent was cut from the men's intramural appropriation which had been raised in the original budget at the expense of debate.

The compromise figure is still short .6 per cent from last year's debate appropriation of 3 per cent, an amount which the debaters say is necessary to carry on their present program.

Debater Jim Lucas said he had been approached by a number of students who favored a cut in the athletics budget to aid debate. He said athletics get "nearly 50 per cent of the student fees and prevent debate from soliciting outside funds."

Freeman said that a cut in the athletic appropriation now "would be like giving the athletic program a bit of arsenic at a time." Al Galen, a member of Budget and Finance committee, said a cut in the athletic fund "will not hurt the Californians, but will hurt smaller sports like tennis." Freeman said skiing already has been cut from MSU's list of intercollegiate sports because of a lack of funds.

Compromise for Debate

The board voted on the budget after only 26 minutes of discussion. The compromise figure for debate passed with Vice-President Kay Hennessy, Freshman Delegate Danny Lambros, and Faculty Representative E. W. Briggs in opposition.

Immediately after the vote was taken Debater Jerry Baldwin asked for permission to solicit outside funds to support the debate program. ASMSU Pres. John Holding appointed a committee to arrange a co-ordinated plan for solicitation with Andy Cogswell, public service director. The purpose of this committee apparently is to arrange a method whereby debate can solicit outside funds without conflicting with the athletic department.

Named to this committee were Pres-Elect Bob Anderson, Secretary-elect Jackie Perry, Lucas, and Baldwin. Holding also appointed a committee to meet with the administration and examine the possibilities of university aid in financing the debate and intramural programs. This committee includes Holding, Anderson, Baldwin, Charles Hertler of the physical education department, and Athletic Director Cac Hubbard.

Kaimin Retains Salaries

The Kaimin's case was handled by Editor Don Graff and Adviser Edward B. Dugan. They argued against cutting Kaimin salaries while the paper was making money and said they would recommend salary cuts if the paper started losing money.

Dugan said he feared lower salaries would reduce the number of applicants for top Kaimin positions. Graff said the proposed pay cuts might keep an able person from applying for a Kaimin job because he could not afford to take it. He said the top staff positions do not give a person enough time to work elsewhere.

The proposed cut by Budget and Finance committee was from $70 to $50 monthly for the editor and from $50 to $35 for the business manager.

The proposed cuts in Sentinel salaries caused less of a stir because co-Editors Bob O'Neil and Doris Lund wanted a change in salaries anyway. The present salaries—$70 for the editor, $50 for the business manager, $35 for a photographer, and $10 for three associate editors—were temporarily maintained in order that the budget could be passed.

New Sentinel Recommendations

But Budget and Finance will consider O'Neil's recommendation that the editor get $50, the business manager $30, the photographer $35, three associates $10, and that the new position of advertising manager be created. The advertising manager would receive $10 monthly plus a percentage of advertising sold, the total amount from both sources not to exceed $170 for the school year. O'Neil

Music Students Present Recitals

Eight students will present recitals tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the Main hall auditorium.

The first of these will be the piano selection "Legend" by Albeniz which will be played by Dean Keith, Chester. Dick Merley, East Helena, will play the second and third movements of Mozart's "Second Concerto" on the French horn. He will be accompanied on the piano by his wife, June.

Betty Bee Young, Lewistown, mezzo-soprano, will sing "Beloved It Is Morn!" by Alyward, for her part in the program. Richard Remington, Kalispell, will play "Panis Angelicus" by Cesar Franck on the French horn. He will be accompanied on the piano by Judson Maynard, Townsend.

Bill Simmons, Hardin, will present the first movement of the "Sonata in E Major" by Beethoven, on the piano. "Concert Piece" by Alary will be played by Falle Nelson, Glendive. His trombone selection will be accompanied by Virginia Rowe, Coeur d'Alene, Ida.

To complete this program, Elaine Schelling, Great Falls, and Joseph Orrino, Anaconda, duopianists, will play the "Jamaican Rhumba" by Benjamin.

said the new position would relieve the business manager from selling advertising and relieve the editor from many of the business manager's duties which he now handles. He said his plan would cut the Sentinel's salary expenditures by $170 and make production of the yearbook a more efficient operation.

Athletic board's proposal to sell students reserved seats at the Grizzly-Bobcat game received less opposition than was anticipated. Holding and Anderson put a damper on arguments that a student's activity card entitles him to see the game when they pointed out that students are paying only 27 cents per athletic event through activity fees. Only Lambros and Fox voted in opposition to the proposal.

Last week's two meetings provided a turbulent climax to a rather active legislative year for Central board. They gave the new members an indication of what to expect, particularly when money is involved.

Letters to the Editor . . .

Dear Editor:

Now that our sagacious Budget and Finance committee has set the precedent of penalizing the winner contra to what has been the custom since time immemorial—is it not time to look around for other organizations or groups which have the gall and audacity to bring the winner's wreath to our fair campus so that they may also receive their accolade from our appreciative ASMSU administrators—namely, the legislative axe?

Rather than allowing the possibility that the Budget and Finance committee might overlook any winners we should like to call attention to the Montana university tennis team. This aggregation has been flagrantly winning match after match and what is more obnoxious—with annual consistency. Here is another organization which has been as reprehensible in garnering a spot in the winner's circle as the debate team.

Admitting that it requires no great mental capacity to criticize we will go beyond the borders of criticism and present a constructive plan which the perspicacious Budget and Finance committee may possibly take cognizance of in performing their great beneficial service to our University. Our plan is simply this: Eradicate completely from our curriculum those incongruous organizations which persist against revered and established ways of competitiveness in carrying their activity to the despicable culmination of victory and bringing prestige and respect to our University in intercollegiate competition rather than the difference accorded a non-entitled team.

With sincere bona fide hopes such a proposition will be considered and followed, we remain irrevocably opposed to the winners.

Trackmen Beat Gonzaga for Victory No. 15

Montana State University's team ended its 1950 season over a week end with twin victories over a strong Gonzaga squad, 5-2, and victories were the fourth and fifteenth in 16 starts for the Grizzlies and the third straight for the Bulldogs this year.

Outstanding matches were between Gonzaga's Joe Brasch and Montana's Wayne Cumming. Cumming won Friday, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, and Saturday, 6-2, 2-2. This was the last time the players will meet in collegiate competition. In their four years of rivalry, Cumming has won eight matches. Brasch defeated Cumming earlier in the season at Spokane.

Friday's matches, the Bulldogs won two of the singles and Grizzlies doubles teams had to come from behind to win their matches. In the singles, Brasch defeated Cumming; Bill Jardine, Gonzaga, won from John Swartz, Idaho; Ernie Bentley, Gonzaga, defeated Bob Nogler, Montana; Holmstrom, Montana, won from Al Wayne, Gonzaga; Giff Martin, Montana, defeated Darrell Gonzaga.

In the doubles, Cumming and Brasch defeated Brasch and Swartz, Gonzaga; Jardine and Holmstrom defeated Bentley and Wayne. Saturday, only one match went to a tie. That was Ernie Bentley's match of Montana's Jardine, 8-6. Bentley was the only Bulldog to win two singles matches in the two-day stand. Friday he defeated Nogler.

Doubles results: Cumming and Brasch defeated Brasch and Swartz; Bentley and Wayne beat Jardine and Jim Wylder. The Grizzlies leave Thursday for Pullman and the northern division Pacific Coast conference meet.

SPE Whips South; Phi Sigs Romp

South hall went down to a 3-2 softball defeat under Sigma Phi Epsilon, Friday in the Clover bowl.

South started strong with two runs on base hits by Neliles and Keyser in the first but were unable to hit Holton during the remainder of the game. The score was tied until the last half of the seventh when Holton got a base on balls and was batted in by Olafson's base hit.

The Phi Sigs broke into the win column Thursday when they defeated Corbin, 19-9.

Ingham homered for Corbin with three on in the seventh but it was too late and the Corbinites were unable to catch the Phi Sigs.

Baumgarth allowed eight bases on balls in the first, giving the Phi Sigs seven runs before he regained control. Popovac, Corbin, socked a four-bagger in the fifth but no one was on.

FINAL IRC MEETING

The International Relations club will have its last meeting of the year tonight in Journalism 307. The time of the meeting has been advanced to 7 p.m. so it will not conflict with the university opera.

Plans for the annual spring picnic will also be discussed.

Spartans Rout Butte Bulldogs

(This is the second in a series of articles briefing Kaimin readers on the coming interscholastic track meet.)

Missoula County high school wrapped a mantle of Montana high school track supremacy tighter around itself last week end.

The favored Spartans trot Butte Public high school deep into the cinders of Dornblaser field Saturday in a dual meet staged with the Montana-Idaho clash. The local cindermen took 92½ points to Butte's 29½.

Again the large frame of Missoula's Hank Mohland occupied a substantial part of the picture. Big Hank bounced to firsts in the high hurdles and high jump and also threw to a first place in the discus.

Two other important factors in the dual doings were Deno Damas-kos and Eddie Anderson. Damas-kos broke the tape in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes. Anderson took top spots in javelin and shot put contests.

Only Bulldog first was booked by Les Sodja in the mile.
